ABOUT THE CLINICIAN SCOTT FLEMING, DVM, CF

Dr. Scott Fleming, originally from Northeast Texas, grew up riding Western performance Quarter Horses and working with cattle. Upon graduating high school, Dr. Fleming attended farrier school and maintained a quarter horse-centric farrier business in Northeast and central Texas until moving to Lexington. He also served in the Marine Corps Infantry for four years.

Fleming graduated from veterinary school at Texas A&M University in 2013. After completing an internship at Rood & Riddle Equine Hospital in 2013-2014, he continued at the hospital as a fellow. Following his fellowship, Dr. Fleming joined the practice as an associate veterinarian, and in 2020 became a shareholder at Rood & Riddle Equine Hospital.

Outside of Rood & Riddle Equine Hospital, Fleming enjoys spending time on the farm with his wife, Tina, and their two children, Callie and Case. A special interest for Dr. Fleming is participating in Equitarian Initiative trips to Central America to help working equids in the region.
